

Mitacs provides flexible research funding for collaborations with industry and not-for-profit partners. We also support international research networks through student mobility and provide research and training opportunities for your students and postdocs. All academic disciplines are eligible for our programs.

Mitacs Accelerate is a huge benefit to professors as it gives us exposure to the outside world and to the challenges that industry is facing... It has made me reach out more than I would have, and has given me opportunities that I would not have otherwise had.
